Due to the uncertainty over Covid-19 restrictions, we are not signing up vendors or non-profit organizations for specific markets at this time. We hope to be able to do that later, once the covid-related restrictions are lifted. For now, we will handle things market by market. Once we receive your information on this form, we will not require it again when you apply for each market.

The Irvington Farmers Market offers a limited number of spaces at each market to non-profit organizations for the purpose of community education and outreach. The assignment of spaces is based on availability and is determined by the Market Coordinator. Non-profit status does not necessarily qualify you for space at the market. If you are selling something, you need to notify the Market Coordinator of what your product is. For the busier markets, non-profits will be wait-listed but will be notified a week in advance of the market date if space is available. Please let us know any preferences or suggestions you may have.

Non-Profits are considered guests of the market and do not pay to attend. You are required to follow market rules and regulations, including contacting the Market Coordinator about cancellations. See attached Regulations.
